

about me

Hello, my name is Edouard and I was born in Basel to an Italian mother and a French father. I believe in the power of images, colors and words, which is why I want to become a graphic designer. After getting a double high school diploma (Italian and French), I graduated in Industrial Design. I am now enrolled in the master's degree in Communication Design at ISIA in Florence. If I am not working on a project, I like to go out and take pictures with my camera and spend time outdoors. My passion for sports makes me give my best in every activity, always trying to push myself beyond the limit.

working experience

Curricular Internship at Sinaptic

Communication agency in Florence Mar 2023 - Jul 2023

While working at Sinaptic, I served as a graphic designer, creating visual identities, logos, layouts, and posts for clients' social networks. I interfaced with real clients and collaborated with colleagues in order to produce the best solution for all.

Civic City, Paris - France

Collaboration Jan 2023 - Feb 2024

I took part in the "School of not knowing" project alongside Civic City of Paris. We crafted activist posters for the project and organized the exhibition in Paris.
